Start the ALASKA EXPEDITION that will take the biker Dubanok Onoff by the Mexico-Alaska-Mexico route.

CDMX, June 10, 2016.- Yesterday started one of the biggest motorcycle trips that have starting in Mexico, the trip that Dubanok Onoff will take from the Mexican capital to mDeadhorse Alaska, the northernmost point of the American continent where it can be reached by vehicle engine overland, and back to the CDMX.

Alaska Expedition will be a personal and intimate journey that is located between the pleasure trips that leads to this renowned Colombian-Mexican biker, aiming to enjoy roads, regions and people to be traveled throughout three countries on a scheduled trip approximately 45 days and 25 thousand kilometers of route.

The partner of Dubanok Onoff for this day will be La Negra Tomasa, a bike BMW 1200 GS a point for this crossing.

The route contemplates taking part in the Rally Custom Rock Rally 1600 kms x 24 hours, and then climbing by Roswell, New Mexico to tour the forged landscape for millions of years in Monument Valley.

The route will continue along Bonneville Speedway, legendary field where the legends of the land speed from the last century, to then reach the emblematic volcanic zone of Yellowstone.

Dubanok hopes to reach Canada through Calgary to see the Banf nature park, and follow up to take The Yukon, legendary road that led to the gold seekers more and more up on the mainland.

The road will become more and more lonely, ideal for bikers who enjoy to contemplate the nature through the motorcyclismo of travel, when advancing towards the north of the continent.

In Alaska, the final road will be the famous Dalton Highway, the same as the ice truckers, and is rebuilt every day by the rough terrain and climate.

On the way back the biker will come all the west coast until arriving at La Paz and from there by ferry to Topolobampo to start the final stretch home in the capital of the Mexican republic, on a journey which you expect will be around 45 days.

Dubanok says that this is a journey that requires important programming to fulfill its mission and in some way is a recognition to the activity of the bikers road Mexicans are becoming more and more Finally thanked its sponsors of this Alaska Expedition, the firms Tourfella Mexico, Discovermoto, Sopbiker and BelMoto and Black Label Biker that make this project possible
