Dubanok Onoff promotes Vintage Moto Art to promote culture and art biker in Mexico

The culture biker is in full expansion and the art is not alien to it, reason why a motorcycle can be also the space where an artistic concern is expressed, said Dubanok Onoff, one of the main figures of the biker phenomenon in Mexico and owner of the firm Black Label Biker.

The biker therefore invited to the Vintage Moto Art, to be celebrated next June 18 in the capital of the country and commented that around the phenomenon biker happens a myriad of expressions as they are the promotion to the road culture, the healthy coexistence or even the art through the called Custom activity.

That is why Pedro Asturiano, Salvador Colín and Dubanok have met to organize the Vintage Motor Art that will unite both lovers of biker as of art in Mexico. The VMA will be held in Plaza Condesa in its first edition and convenes the main exponents in various specialties within the Custom Culture in Mexico.

It is a unique event in which for the first time will live motorcycle builders, graphic artists and photographers; Who show their work without any commercial purpose.

The event is called "Solo para los Grandes" and sets a standard in the events related to motorcycling in our country, since more than being a platform of purchase or sale or presentation of new vehicles is a recognition to all who contribute something to the Custom scene. The event will be divided into three areas where more than fifty motorcycles will be exhibited, and there will be specialized workshops, guests special, even independent small garages that present their first motorcycle. Similarly, reported Dubanok Onoff, there will be a collective exhibition of graphics and photography which brings together the most outstanding in Mexican motorcycling sharing space with new creators.

On the other hand, the biker of Colombian origin recalled that this Thursday, June 9, will start one of the biggest crossings iconic, the trip that will do starting from Mexico City to Deadhorse Alaska, the northernmost point of the American continent where it can be reached by motor vehicle by land, and back to the Mexican capital.

Alaska Expedition will be a personal and intimate trip that is located between the pleasure trips that takes place this recognized biker Colombian-Mexican highway, with the objective of enjoying the roads, regions and people to the fullest extent possible. three countries in a trip scheduled for approximately 45 days and 25 thousand kilometers of route.

Dubanok Onoff is a biker with several years of experience that is part of several groups of motorcycle drivers in Mexico and is widely recognized among the community of bikers in the country who see this activity as their greatest passion; it is currently followed by thousands of motorcycle enthusiasts through their social networks.
